

Hi, You have been looking for a motivated and creative developer with primary knowledge of PHP and prior experience with Laravel who take pride in their work and can deliver you the best. I consider myself the right choice for you because I have the right skills and potential to match your needs. I am an established full-stack web developer with over 8 years of experience in developing applications mainly in PHP Core, Laravel, Vanilla JS, Vue.js, React, and Node.js. I am also a graduate of software engineering. Through hard work, I have gained some excellent skills in full-stack web development. So, I expect that your fine judgment keep me ahead of the rest of the candidates.

I would like to show you my previous track records to prove my eligibility for a telephonic introductory and technical interview. I can proudly express that I have been serving as a full-stack web developer successfully for more than 8 years. Once you ask a few technical questions and see my previous work on different Laravel projects, I can assure you that, you would love to work with me and will be proud to have me on your team.

Sincerely
Amir Javaid.
